Subject:	Wrong indentation of bullets in bulletlists
Description	When you copy and paste text to the new template, the indentation of bullets in bulletlists is not big enough. See screenshot. I used the style "Default" for all the lines with normal text (also for the lines with the bullets), which is what you recommend.

There's a "List" style for list, which is meant to be used for bulleted list. It is described in the wiki. It should have the proper indentation.

BTW haven't you installed the necessary fonts? Your screenshot looks definitely wrong...

It was rather strange:

I checked that the fonts are there before starting with the manual: I opened it and marked the texts in OpenOffice. There the correct names showed up in the font drop down box. So I thought the fonts must be installed. But in fact they were not. Nasty.

I added a note on that pitfall to the Wiki.

Do texts and lists (with dashes and indentation) look better now?

Looks good now as far as I can tell.

Thanks for your notes in the wiki.

OK, I think we can then close this one (as it never was a bug in the template file).

Agreed.
