Description
I don't know whether this is "by design" or a bug:
Is it really not possible anymore to view the workspace version and the live version of a page together? for me it's just possible to see the top area of the workspace version and the bottom area of the live version but I want to see the same area from both pages.

Agreed - maybe we should have a fallback - not sure we're able to include it in 4.5

HCI issue: <http://forge.typo3.org/issues/11540>

#3 - 2010-12-20 19:29 - Sonja Schubert

- Target version set to 4.5 RC1

#4 - 2010-12-22 19:29 - Tolleiv Nietsch

- File 11539.patch added

11539.patch is a work-in-progress patch but shows that it's possible ;)

- File comparison_view_ff36_mac.png added

I don't know if it's the right place to report this, but the new comparison view does not occupy the full viewport on Firefox 3.6 for Mac. See attached screenshot. Refreshing or resizing the window does not change anything.

Thanks for bringing that up - yes, that happens on all platforms if there's an JS-Error within the Preview-IFrames (and the callback doesn't work)...

#7 - 2011-01-12 22:26 - Tolleiv Nietsch

- File 11539-wsPreviewHeightFix.patch added

an additional patch to have crossbrowser compatible height-fix for the iframe is attached - this might be needed for review purposes of this issue but will be part of a different issue once we're sure that future splitview and this patch work well together

Hi Tolleiv and team. The attached patch (11539-wsPreviewHeightFix.patch) seems to solve the issue with the limited height we have been experienced (Francois, can you confirm?). The height is now the whole content, as expected.

Thanks!

The patch is working here (FF3.6/Linux)

The issue was also reported on <http://bugs.typo3.org/view.php?id=17009>

- File 11539v2.patch added

v2 improves the split view, the mode switcher is a proper toolbar/menu now. Only problem - due to an ExtJS foo which stole me already more than 20hrs of work without resolution the layout construction of the "slider" panels breaks and therefore the panels aren't resized to full size as expected. Steffen promised to have an ExtJS expert available for that.

11539-wsPreviewHeightFix.patch is still valid

#12 - 2011-01-16 10:44 - Tolleiv Nietsch

- File 11539v3.patch added

v3 is pretty close to what we want and at least works in Chrome and Firefox. In Safari and Opera the Toolbar-Icon is missing and IE ... well IE ;)

- File example.PNG added

example.PNG <- that's what you should get.

- File 11539v4.patch added

correct path of v3-patch

#16 - 2011-01-20 22:07 - Susanne Moog

Just tested the patches. In general +1, I've got one small issue when I switch frequently between horizontal and vertical orientation I sometimes get a blank screen until I change the window height in Chrome and in Firefox (but that could again be just me ;))

#17 - 2011-01-21 10:28 - Tolleiv Nietsch
