Description

Hi,

i suggest to add type json to the escape viewhelper.

Sometime you want to render json output with fluid and not with an own json view. The problem is that fluid also uses json like syntax, so if you want to add an object to a json string you run into a problem.

Imagine adding a link with the link viewhelper. It returns a sting with double quotes which need to be escaped for json.

I simply added type json to the escape viewhelper which returns the $value json_encode()'ed.

Tell me what you think.

Regards,
Kevin

[FEATURE] Adds a format.json ViewHelper

Provide a ViewHelper that enables putting JSON out of an array or object. Basically wraps PHP's native json_encode() method.

[TASK] Disable escapingInterceptor in Format.Json ViewHelper

Because the provided ViewHelper children will never be put through to the template but only be used for source value retrieval, the escapingInterceptor gets disabled.
