| Subject:   | Widgets are not compatible with Doctrine persistence |                     |                    |
| Description  |  |                     |                    |
| Both the pagination and autocomplete are currently not compatible with the Doctrine persistence layer. For example, when assigning a result from a repository to the objects attribute of the pagination widget, the following exception is thrown: <pre>PaginateViewHelper_Original::render() must be an instance of F3\FLOW3\Persistence\QueryResult, instance of F3\FLOW3\Persistence\Doctrine\QueryResult given</pre> I've only tested this with the pagination widget, but as both have the same annotation for $objects, I suspect that also the autocomplete is suffering from this issue. |  |                     |                    |
