History

I'm experiencing the same problem in templavoila. I can drag an item, but can't drop it anywhere. I attached a movie showing my problems.

I can confirm this, too.

And since there seems to be no other way in TYPO3 4.2 to reorder sections (like the up/down buttons in previous versions) this feature is pretty much unusable at the moment.

If I remember right this more or less worked in one of the betas (jerky, but it worked) but I can't remember in which one.

EDIT:

I forgot to say, I checked with every browser available to me (FF, IE 6+7, Safari, Opera, Camino) on Windows and OS X.

i have the same problem. by testing different combinations i find out that this problem will occur by mixing sections with other elements.

expl:

CO, EL, EL, SC,CO,EL,EL,CO,EL

drag and drop don't work

splitting this fce in two different fce's it will work:

1.block:

CO, EL, EL

2.block:

CO,SC,CO,EL,EL,CO,EL
example don't work when using RTE in one element

may this will be helpful for others

Mathias Bolt Lesniak, TemplaVoila does not move sections or create forms. TYPO3 does!

Related to <http://bugs.typo3.org/view.php?id=8882> ?

could you test the patch under <http://bugs.typo3.org/view.php?id=8882> if it solves this problem? its a prototype/sortable issue that appears only when the page has been scrolled (and the offset gets calculated wrong).

#7 - 2009-04-09 10:05 - Oliver Hader

This issue was solved in #19049.

There is a sponsorship of 100,00 Euro by Mathias Bolt Lesniak. Affected parties in creating a patch were Sebastian Fuchs and Helmut Hummel. Please get in contact with me directly (oliver @ typo3 . org) if you have problems concerning the sponsorship...
