Subject:	CSS in BE has no general rules, only specific
Description
This leads to the fact that if you write your own BE-module, you have to write your own CSS rules. Currently we have two kinds of BE-modules: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- modules using docheaders- modules without docheaders Both should get the basic rules assigned so you don't have to care about the generic look of your module (issue imported from #M11150)

We definitely need a set of generic rules, then each module can add its own specific styles.

Needed also are styles for messages (success, info, notice, warning and error).

Yes, I talked to Benni and we want to get rid of this body-monster (especially as it should be (almost) no problem to just change the generic rule.

I wanted to wait until #22507 is committed, hopefully this happens tomorrow and we get this one also in tomorrow.

Committed to trunk rev 7502
