Subject:	Icon "Create new record in top of column" displayed even with no rights

Description
The icon and link "Create new record in top of column" in the page module is displayed even if the editor has no rights to create/change content elements.   The control panel of each record is hidden correctly by using the extended check which should be used at the other place too.   (issue imported from #M14493)

Hi Georg,

the line from your patch

    if ($this->tt_contentConfig['showCommands'] && $this->doEdit) { is in function tt_content_drawHeader and in function tt_content_drawColHeader it is handled with an extra $editParams parameter.

So the base of this patch is done.

On the other side there are other areas (like dropzone) which shows an add icon if you do not have the rights to do so.

So can we close this issue?
