this is indeed right, but since "contains" is not type - this is intended.

the uxw task was to clean up the look :)

the implementation has been very ugly in "old way" and since we are aiming to be cleaner in future I do not like to implement it in sprite-icon-for record sinc it would be a dirty hack to...

Clean way would be: register your own pagetype-with icon

That's a shame, especially when this article is fairly new and got some great feedback from readers.

automatic fallback won't be possible anyways, be-skinning (what this belongs to) is not backwards compatible as of 4.4

talked to benni about it... what do you think about following solution:

"contains" overwrites "type", so that the type "contains_VALUE" would have been looked up in TCA[ctrl][typeicon_classes] where you would register your own icon (from iconset or register own one via api-function)
