[BUGFIX] Add l18n_parent to tt_content TCA

If an editor ignores the "Copy default content elements"-button, it is not possible to get a new content element in the alternative language related to it's parent.

The existing l18n_parent field is never shown. This seems to be a bug which was introduced in TYPO3 4.5 and exists up to now.

The patch adds the l18n_parent field to the general tab.

Possible solution

#2 - 2011-05-12 15:35 - Peter Kraume

Quick workaround: create a new extension and put this into ext_tables.php:

t3lib_extMgm::addToAllTCAtypes('tt_content','l18n_parent');

Should be enough to add this line to typo3conf/extTables.php.

It seems that the l18n_parent field was forgotten,
maybe because if it is shown, it will probably explode
the layout as it can get very long for text content elements.

Probably this needs some adjustments, but at present there is no default setting in the TCA to render this select field with acceptable output.

The only possible way to limit the width of the select field for now, would be to write a custom userfunc for the field.

You can edit the l18n_parent in the list view anyway,
but for normal editors no chance, they can't reference new created elements (no-copy) to original contents.

I think this should be fixed in the next 4.5 release too.

My temporary bugfix is was to overwrite the TCA in the ext_tables.php file inside a custom extension; I added
"--linebreak--", l18n_parent" at the end:

$TCA['tt_content']['palettes']['general']['showitem'] = 'CType;LLL:EXT:cms/locallang_ttc.xml:CType_formlabel, colPos;LLL:EXT:cms/locallang_ttc.xml:colPos_formlabel, sys_language_uid;LLL:EXT:cms/locallang_ttc.xml:sys_language_uid_formlabel,
--linebreak--, l18n_parent';

That's what I've done and I get a new tab where I can select the parent again.

That's really necessary because not all editors use the "copy from default" button :-(
