Bug # 25335 (Resolved): Make TYPO3 free of NOTICE errors

Subject:	Get rid of error_reporting() at various places in the source
Description
At several places we currently have: <pre>error_reporting(E_ALL ^ E_NOTICE ^ E_DEPRECATED);</pre> I'd suggest we should leave it up to the administrator if he wants TYPO3 to "mess" with his error_reporting or not. Currently things like E_NOTICE can't even be activated explicitly for testing. We could have an error_reporting-setting in installtool and if this localconf-variable is set, we'll set error_reporting(). But it can also be explicitly not set. Migration from TYPO3 4.5 to 4.6 (as with forceCharset on the move 4.4 to 4.5) should be to automatically set this to E_ALL ^ E_NOTICE ^ E_DEPRECATED in upgrade-wizard. It also would make working on #25335 (getting rid of E_NOTICE-errors in the core) a lot easier. as this issue is very old. Does the problem still exists within newer versions of TYPO3 CMS (6.2.4)?

Hi,

We have error-reporting-settings meanwhile.

Searching across the current master-tree, besides testcases and some libs (adodb) what I found was:

typo3/thumbs.php

22:error_reporting(E_ALL & ~(E_STRICT | E_NOTICE | E_DEPRECATED));

typo3/sysex/core/Classes/Core/SystemEnvironmentBuilder.php

296:      error_reporting(E_ALL & ~(E_STRICT | E_NOTICE | E_DEPRECATED));

I expect in SystemEnvironmentBuilder it is needed? In thumbs.php maybe not since that uses the official bootstrapping?

Shouldn't typo3/thumbs.php not deprecate? ;-)

Anyway, it looks like it can be removed.
