Subject: Adding a primaryElectronicAddress to a person throws an duplicate key error
Description
When I add a electronicAddress to a person by setting the electronicAddress as primaryElectronic Address (setPrimaryElectronicAddress()), everything works fine if this is done for the first time. If I then change the PrimaryElectronicAddress to another ElectronicAddress I get a changed PrimaryElectronicAddress and a second ElectronicAddress added to the already existing ElectronicAddresses. So far everything is o.k. If i then try to change the PrimaryElectronicAddress back to the one I initially had set as PrimaryElectronicAddress by selecting that ElectronicAddress from a list of ElectronicAddresses an Error 'duplicate Key in Table typo3_domain_model_party_electronicaddresses_join' is thrown. If I change the method "setPrimaryElectronicAddress" as follows everything works fine. <pre>/ * Sets (and adds if necessary) the primary electronic address of this person. * * @param \TYPO3\Party\Domain\Model\ElectronicAddress $electronicAddress The electronic address * @return void * @author Robert Lemke <robert@typo3.org> */ public function setPrimaryElectronicAddress(\TYPO3\Party\Domain\Model\ElectronicAddress $electronicAddress) { $this->electronicAddresses->removeElement($this->getPrimaryElectronicAddress()); $this->primaryElectronicAddress = $electronicAddress; $this->electronicAddresses->add($electronicAddress); }</pre>

[BUGFIX] PrimaryElectronicAddress should check before adding

With setPrimaryElectronicAddress the electronic address is also added to the electronicAddress collection but it should check first if it is already in to avoid creating duplicate entries.
