Subject:	Access check on page nodes is broken
Description	When a page node has accessRoles configured the $node->isAccessible() check in NodeController->showAction throws an error because the securityContext is not yet initialized. This should be fixed in a way which is only initializing the securityContext if really needed to prevent session initialization whenever possible.

Change the Node object so it has a separate method to check if access restrictions are active. Besides that we remove the thrown error as the $securityContext->hasRole() takes care of the securityContext initialization if needed.

This fixes the securityContext not yet initialized error in the Phoenix Frontend/NodeController->showAction() method.
