Subject:	Default for nullable is TRUE but should be FALSE

Description

The nullable option for columns is FALSE in Doctrine 2 unless otherwise indicated. Our annotation driver uses a default of TRUE, which breaks the intended alignment of behavior between vanilla Doctrine 2 and the FLOW3 integration.

[!!!][BUGFIX] Changes the default for nullable columns to FALSE

This change makes columns not nullable by default, as is the case with vanilla Doctrine 2.

This is a breaking change if you rely on NULL values to be returned to detect special cases, like for not using unset date properties. In those cases you need to mark your property with the Doctrine annotation: Column(nullable=true)
