Subject:	involving SecurityContext in Widget's __wakeup situation leads to an exception
Description

I experience the situation that the attached exception occurs.

I have an object with an injected \TYPO3\FLOW3\Security\Context. This object is created and stored inside the widgetConfiguration. After a subsequent request of the page the attached exception occurs. It seems that the DI after the __wakeup is not fully correctly handled and the securityContext lost its request property.
