Subject:	The action URI of a form should be equal to the request URI
Description	The action target for the Forms is always directed to the index action in the context of the BackendModule. Since the Form should always have the current action as target i've attached a diff to set the actionUri in the FormViewHelper automatically.

[BUGFIX] The action URI of a form should be equal to the request URI

Currently the action URI of a form is created by the UriBuilder thus using the Routing framework. This can lead to missing arguments and non-resolving routes.

This fixes this by overriding the setFormActionUri() method of the FormViewHelper setting the action attribute of the form tag to the requested URI
