Subject:	IdentityRoutePart should set __identity array
Description
IdentityRoutePart::matchValue() currently returns the identifier of the ObjectPathMapping record directly. This makes it difficult to merge arguments with data from the requestBody (e.g. for PUT requests). Instead, the route part should return an array in the format array('__identity' => '<Identifier>')

[TASK] IdentityRoutePart should return __identity array

IdentityRoutePart::matchValue() currently returns the identifier of the ObjectPathMapping record directly.

This makes it difficult to merge arguments with data from the requestBody (e.g. for PUT requests).

This change adjusts the route part so that it sets $this->value to an array in the format array('__identity' => '<Identifier>')
