Subject:	Introduce debugMode setting
Description

By default all output of TypoScript Runtime rendering is wrapped by HTML comments. This triggers quirks mode in Internet Explorer basically breaking the layout of current conference and demo sites.

[BUGFIX] Add Debug mode to TypoScript rendering

This change introduces a debugMode setting for TypoScript rendering.
Disabling this by default prevents rendering of HTML comments around all elements including the <html> tag. The result is an HTML comment before the doctype declaration which causes Internet Explorer to switch to quirks mode.
