It's not broken, just ugly... How should this be remedied best?

- Target version deleted (Sprint 10 (1.0 TP1))

I wanted the template to be as reduced as possible. I am not against putting something nice in but I didn't want to provide a "real" template but just the structures. With the GSoC project of Jacob this will probably change as it strives to allow creating site packages based on different kind of "boilerplate codes" and frontend frameworks.

Can this issue be closed? Or is it still valid somehow?
