| Subject: | Class cache is not flushed from class changes |
| Description | |

An updated class file is picked up correctly from the file monitoring but the according cache entries are not flushed, since the file name doesn't have the supposed layout after the PSR-0 refactoring.

[BUGFIX] Fix monitoring of changed class files

This change fixes the resolving of the class name from a changed file since the PSR-0 changes caused some problems with the assumption of the class name layout in that place. The change keeps the old behavior for test files since these are not yet updated to a new layout.
