Subject:	Composer support
Description
How to change Surf to work with Composer we add a new task "composer:install", which will just run "composer install" in the workspace directory this re-downloads the dependencies all the time currently, but we hope composer will solve that for us soon (see https://github.com/composer/composer/pull/915 ) check if --prefer-source improves this The FLOW3 Application Surf will be adjusted to run the composer:install task by default The composer:install will check at first the following things: if composer.json is not found, skip the step -&gt; so it's backwards-compatible if composer command not found (the task should use a option "composerCommandPath" for that), throw error then run "composer install --no-ansi --no-interaction"
