Subject:	There is still a button for deleting the current user
Description	In the user list we disabled the delete button for the user which is currently logged in. This button is still visible by clicking on the 'info' button. (deletion doesn't actually work because it's also checked in the removeAction)

[BUGFIX] Remove 'Delete' button for currently logged in user

In the user listing the delete button for the current user is disabled so a user can not delete his own account. By going to the showAction of the user the button was still visible though.

This change disables that button.
