Subject:	Nodename according to the pagetitle

Description
When a new page is created the nodename should be accordingly named like the title. Example: new pagetitle: Products -> nodename: products if there is already a nodename called 'products' it should be automatically be changed into 'products1'

[FEATURE] New nodes: set node name according to page title

This patch adds a feature which will automatically set a human friendly node name derived from the node's title when creating a new node via the (page) tree. Some very basic transliteration is included, proper implementation of that is scope of a separate change though.

If a node with the same name already exists, a counter is added to the node name.

This implementation only takes care of new Document-like nodes which are created via the tree (currently implemented with an ExtDirect controller).
