Subject:	f:be.menus.actionMenuItem - Detection of the current select option is insufficient

Description

Currently the action menu preselects an option if the current controller/action pair matches the arguments from the menu item. Unfortunatly you have no option to force another menu item to be preselected that would make sense if you execute other action/controller pairs inside your backend module that are not shown in the menu. For example this could be a preview dialog after a form submission.
