Subject:	Problems on publishing complex IRRE structure
Description	Imagine the following IRRE parent-child structure. The important thing is, that Price is created by different parents. <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Hotel<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Offer<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Price- Flight<ul style="list-style-type: none">- Price On publishing this structure, most likely the last Price element gets lost. The reason for that is simple and located in the command map resolver, that is used to correctly publish the single elements from outer-most parent (root) to all dependent children (leaves). The result of the resolver is a "cmdmap" array to be used in t3lib_TCEmain/DataHandler. The Price object below Offer already defines the array elements for Price which gets completed by the child of Flight later on. The resulting "cmdmap" looks like this: <pre>cmd[Hotel][1] = ... cmd[Price][1] = ... cmd[Price][2] = ... cmd[Flight][1] = ...</pre> However, all elements of the Price object must be process after the Flight object, which is a relative parent in this case.
