Subject:	Get rid of DOM class/id mix
Description
Currently we use id and classes for the UI elements and that is a little confusing when writing styles We should get rid of classes that are also represented with an ID Generally all elements that are direct children of the body tag should have an ID and the class t3-ui. Examples: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Currently the notifications container only has a class and no ID.- The page panel currently has the class t3-inspector- The footer panel currently has the class t3-toolbar- The toolbar currently also has the class t3-toolbar- The inspector currently also has the class t3-inspector
