In the Install Tool of 6.2 there is now a button to clear all caches. This includes the typo3temp/Cache folder and all other caches that are known.
Can you check if current master is what you are looking for?

- Is Regression set to No

Yeah, the "Clear Caches" button in 6.2 kills typo3temp/Cache.

Still, the "Clean up" functionality is not as useful as it could be. Also 6.2 did not improve in this area since the functionality was mostly copied over.
Imho, this submodule needs a better concept and usability.

Since this ticket here is very generic and also mixes cache handling with "clean up", I will close it for now. If we refactor the "clean up" action, the concrete patches should be done in new issues.
