Description	Implement a select box containing the current selected node as the selected value with the available parent elements as other options. When selecting a parent element the node focus changes to the selected element and the options are updated for the new selected element. It's a replacement of the content breadcrumb currently available in the bottom toolbar next to the inspect button. There will always be a selected option since it follows the node selection where the page is selected if no content element/section is selected. Added as part of the inspector. This elements also serves the purpose of providing visual indication of what the inspector fields are for.
