| Subject: | Install System Extensions doesn't use "userInput" |

Description

As it doesn't use the userInput var, to get the input of the user, it was broken by the installer rewrite.

Test:

- Deactivate one of the Extensions which are offered by the wizard (See #49256 to activate the wizard)
- Start the wizard and select this extension
- It won't be activated (See #49258 to test this patch successfully)

[BUGFIX] Use userInput instead of own broken method

The user data from form post submit is broken after install tool rewrite. Instead of using own method to gather data changed to the userInput variable that is set by the calling action.
