| Subject:  | Roles are not synchronized |                     |             |
| Description   |                            |                     |             |
| Issue occurred trying to install TYPO3 Neos Alpha4   |                            |                     |             |
| Installing with the instructions from neos.typo3.org/download.html , and following this command pattern  |                            |                     |             |
| <pre>composer command + doctrine:migrate + site:import + user:create</pre>   |                            |                     |             |
| I get the following error  |                            |                     |             |
| <pre>❑ Neos git:(cd5105e) ./flow user:create --username sorenmallig --password YOURPASSWORD --first-name YOURFIRSTNAME --last-name YOURLASTNAME --roles "TYPO3.Neos:Administrator" The role with identifier "TYPO3.Neos:Administrator" is unknown ❑ Neos git:(cd5105e) ./flow user:create --username sorenmallig --password YOURPASSWORD --first-name YOURFIRSTNAME --last-name YOURLASTNAME The role with identifier "TYPO3.Neos:Editor" is unknown</pre> |                            |                     |             |
| After chatting with Rens we came to the conclusion that TYPO3.Neos Roles aren't synchronized with the rest of the Flow roles.  |                            |                     |             |

a workaround for this issue is force clearing the cache with

./flow flow:cache:flush --force

Tested if <https://review.typo3.org/#/c/22061/> is actually present in the local install with given composer command, and it is. So the role synchronization should've been done directly after the doctrine:migrate command.
