[TASK] Better mocking of $GLOBALS['LANG']

To further remove dependencies in unit tests, some tests are adapted to correctly mock $GLOBALS['LANG']. The PageRenderer tests still need adaptions in a separate patch, so the test bootstrap still initializes the language handling for now.

Revision ac6599fc - 2013-11-12 20:07 - Christian Kuhn

[TASK] Refactor PageRenderer tests

The existing tests of ext:core/Page/PageRenderer are in fact functional tests since most of them trigger lots of dependencies and call the main API method "render()" to check for something.

The patch moves most detail tests to two general functional tests doing the main work and adds some more functional tests for more specific cases.
The unit tests are stripped down to those parts that test only single methods or smaller systems with proper mocking.

In effect, the full unit test suite does no longer depend on initialization of $GLOBALS['LANG'], it is now removed from unit test bootstrap.
