Subject:	Fatal error: Interface 't3lib_tceformsInlineHook' not found in ...
Description
With ext:news installed I get the following exception when I save a item in backend (any content item) Fatal error: Interface 't3lib_tceformsInlineHook' not found in .../typo3conf/ext/news/Classes/Hooks/InlineElementHook.php on line 31 When I add the following line from LegacyClassesForIde.php to my ext_tables the interface fallback works. <pre>interface t3lib_tceformsInlineHook extends \TYPO3\CMS\Backend\Form\Element\InlineElementHookInterface {}</pre> I encountered this with ext:news but expect that more extensions that support the 4.* and 6.* branches will have this problem when implementing the old interfaces.

Looks like there's some php file not loaded?

I think the autoloader doesn't work on these usecases.

Hi,

does the problem still exists within newer versions of TYPO3 CMS (6.2.9)?

Didn't encounter the problem anymore for a long time. So I guess we already fixed it :)
