[BUGFIX] Neos backend breaks if the frontend uses requirejs

When the frontend of a website is using requirejs the backend of Neos does not load, or the content editing does not work. This change puts all Neos requirejs configuration in the 'neos' context and wraps requirejs to prevent a double declaration of requirejs.

It also changes the way requirejs is included as the data-main attribute will not work if requirejs is already defined in the frontend.
