Subject:	Extract forward handling from errorAction
Description
The default Extbase ActionController::errorAction uses the forward method to get back to the referring request. If a custom and different redirect shall happen here, one has to clone the whole errorAction method. Extracting the handling simplifies customization at this state.

[TASK] Decouple responsibilities in default errorAction()

The default Extbase ActionController::errorAction does a lot of different things, which makes it hard to customize a controller to a desired behavior without copying all or some of its code.

Extracting the different responsibilities to separate methods simplifies such customizations.
