Subject:	Don't show upload form if user has no rights to defaultUploadFolder

Description

Hello Core-Team,

if you have a newly created BE-User who opens the element browser the first time, the defaultUploadFolder will be retrieved from Storage which is "user_upload". If user has only defined filemounts to "user_upload/news/" or whatever, he gets a ""-message in element browser. It would be good to hide upload form as long as the user has no rights to access defaultUploadFolder.

Stefan
