Subject:	ElementBrowser::getThisScript is not public
Description	In \TYPO3\CMS\Recordlist\Browser\ElementBrowser the method getThisScript is not public but you need it in your hooks for the LinkBrowser (to generate a valid url). You can use the public property but as the core implementation is like: <pre>$menuDef['page']['addParams'] = 'onclick="jumpToUrl(' . GeneralUtility::quoteJSvalue($this->getThisScript() . 'act=page') . ');return false;";</pre> It should be possible to use this method also from your hook So please simple change accessibility for getThisScript to public. Otherwise you have to do this in every single hook: <pre>$script = strpos($this->parentObject->thisScript, '?') === FALSE ? $this->parentObject->thisScript . '?' : $this->parentObject->thisScript . '&'; $menuDefinition['KEY']['addParams'] = 'onclick="jumpToUrl(' . GeneralUtility::quoteJSvalue($script . 'act=KEY') . ');return false;";</pre> Additionally i have to say: The common way before to generate the tab link was <pre>$menuDefinition['KEY']['addParams'] = 'onclick="jumpToUrl(\'' . htmlspecialchars(('?act=KEY&mode=' . $this->parentObject->mode . '&bparams=' . $this->parentObject->bparams)) . '\');return false;";</pre> This is not compatible with TYPO3 6.2 anymore because of this new moduleToken, so it might be better to rethink that behaviour for the whole wizard. Otherwise many extension would be broken in that context.

[BUGFIX] Ensure backwards compatibility in element browser

Hooks that used the element browser used the JavaScript function `jumpToUrl` with relative URLs.

After refactoring the element browser, it was necessary to compute the absolute URL.

To stay backwards compatible we catch this case in JavaScript and rewrite the URL according to the new requirements.

By doing so, we can simplify our code again.

The method `getThisScript` might still be needed in Hooks for other purposes, so we make it public.
