| Subject:  | Check for sealed config files before deploying |                     |            |
| Description   |  |                     |            |
| When your config files are sealed, you get an error from the CopyConfiguration task, which is run very late in the deployment. This might ruin a complete deployment when you forgot to decrypt the config files, so it's probably better to check for it early in the deployment (probably in a pre-deployment check) |  |                     |            |
