Sprint Focus:
Subject:	The property newSessionID is used in a wrong context in AbstractUserAuthentication

Description
The fix for #57751 was to force the cookie to be set again although it was deleted in the same request again (when an anonymous session was already present), but setting the internal property ->newSessionID to true (later in the request in ->setSessionCookie() it is checked whether a cookie needs to be set).   The fix introduced for #58713 tackled the issue that the cookie is unexpectedly deleted when an anonymous session is present and a login attempt failed. By fixing #58713 the issue in #57751 is also fixed, so we do not need to abuse the ->newSessionID to force the cookie to be set and can rely on this property only to be set when actually a new session ID is generated.

Revert "[BUGFIX] Session cookie is not recreated on login"

This reverts commit 76741dff7b967b88aa1d6e556500a77716c7a97a
(https://review.typo3.org/29626)

This change is not needed any more as the fix done for #58713 also fixes the issues targeted with this fix.

This should be reverted not only because it is not needed any more but especially because it "abuses" the property
->newSessionID which should only be set when really a new ID has been generated and not to force the cookie to be set again.
