Subject:	Flexforms - Translating with inline relations doesn't work
Description
If you are using a flexform with a field for inline relations and try to copy the content element by using "Copy default content elements" the related records in the inline fields will be copied instead of localized. This leads to the issue the inline records in the translated content element does show up (as copies) but aren't but will not be rendered if you are using language mode 'strict'. The behavior for translations will be completely ignored: <pre>&lt;behaviour type="array"&gt;   &lt;localizationMode&gt;select&lt;/localizationMode&gt;   &lt;localizeChildrenAtParentLocalization&gt;1&lt;/localizeChildrenAtParentLocalization&gt; &lt;/behaviour&gt;</pre> Side node: I think powermail for example is using kind a work around since there you have to select a "form record" first and the whole behavior works in the context of TCA itself. Same goes for news extension for example. Second side node: https://forge.typo3.org/issues/58306 is a similar issue (same area). The patch there seems to break mine - But I will try to test this as well.

This leads to another bug in IRRE (I will add it as an issue if this gets applied):

When deleting a flexform content element with related records, the will not be deleted.

So "recopying" the element will end up with the exception "Localization failed; There already was a localization for this language of the record!"
