Subject:	Add a hint that the UI is only wireframes
Description

The login screen should display a (nicely designed) hint that all you see is just wireframes and that colors, sizes, icons etc. should be just ignored.

@Jens: How about making this picture not 1c but rather pencil-scribbled like.

I don't know where exactly you'll position that photo on the login screen but maybe there's some space left for putting the text into speech bubbles. Something like "... and beware: this ain't no real design, it's a wireframe!" and another one "these are not the final colors, positions and icons"

This is how I would suggest to place in the IMG on this Screen. :)
Little Layout details/notes:
  - Login Box placed "fixed" from the top
  - Team GFX placed "fixed" from the bottom (use the new one with 700px width, please)
  - Footer Text got a width of 800px and is placed in the center, but the text is left aligned.
  - Login Box should get a opacity of 80% so the GFX should be visible through if the screen is to small
