Description
First version of the telephone format viewhelper. Have a look at the file; the code is quite straightforward. What I'm curious about is a nice way to implement a way for localized formats of phone numbers. In other words: The syntax/format of a phone number varies from country to country, so there could be maybe a way to have default "presets" of the function's arguments for every country or something. Especially thinking about the 'segmentSeparator' and 'directDialNumberSeparator', etc. (Maybe even for the segmentLength and the countryCodePrefix.) Please give feedback! =o)

Thanks!

Not sure how to do that,
I'm not that experienced with SVN.

Do I need to checkout a working copy?

And what's a bit weird, I can't browse the SVN repository; there are no viewhelpers yet.

And when am I allowed to add the viewhelpers?
I need some +1, no? :->

I'll add a new version soon, hopefully I have "phoneword conversion" in, by then.

- File TelephoneNumberViewHelper.php added

Added a new version which includes some bugfixes and some minor changes/features.

The new version can convert phonewords too.

Hello!

Any feedback on the new version?

Btw. am I allowed to submit any viewhelpers

I want, to the repository, or do I need an

"Accepted" or anything else to be allowed to submit?

Thanks!
